A ROOM OF ONE'S OWN

In the near future KPFA has to change its studio and office location. The reasons are two -- more space is urgently needed, and the budget must be held at its present level or if possible reduced.

A rent increase pends at the present location, and expansion would be impossible without skyrocketing costs. KPFA now occupies about 1,300 square feet and pays $250 a month, which includes water, electricity, janitor and elevator service. The need is for a minimum of 2,000 square feet, with lower rent.

When the station was first established in 1949 it had to have height, at the top of an office building, because its transmitter was situated with the studios. That height, for studios and offices, is not necessary now. Any number of places centrally located in Berkeley -- for example, an old house --

PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENTS

Proceeding upon the assumption that good drama, like good music, deserves to be repeated, we begin with this Folio issue a scheduled rebroadcast of the BBC Dramas. In all, there will be three broadcasts of each drama. The third broadcast will be on a week-night in response to listener requests for some broadcast time other than Saturday evening. The Folio will list the date and time of each repeat playing.

Programs of particular interest coming up for the month of August include the following: a weekly 15 minute program of news-commentary; a new series of extensive readings in modern poetry; and a special music series devoted to the Quartets of Bela Bartok.

As always, we invite listener's suggestions for new programs, as well as criticisms and suggestions regarding those programs already scheduled.
